Summer is a time when visitation and custodial exchanges take place. This creates potential for risk. You can help support children.

warning signs for family & friends

- Visible bruises, scratches or injuries
- Verbal abuse to the partner
- Disrespect in the relationship
- Physical and emotional control
- Social isolation from family and friends
- Fearful, anxious or withdrawn

things you may do

- Talk directly to a child if you have concerns
- Talk to the custodial parent if you notice changes in child(ren)
- Reach out to DVAC's confidential Helpline: 808-531-3771
- In an emergency, call 911

Let's keep summer safe!

Let's keep summer safe!

How can we help our keiki stay safe? We can provide them with homes that are filled with love, affection, respect and kindness. It starts at home and radiates into our community, so let's all do our part to create a nurturing space for our children to grow and thrive. Everyone deserves to feel safe.

We need your help in keeping our community free from harm.

DONATE TODAY!

Even though school is officially out for summer, our dedicated TAP808 team is available for outreach and educational presentations to tap out teen dating violence in our community. They also provide confidential one-on-one advocacy for teens who are in abusive, controlling relationships in need of help and guidance.
